

Directions: Answer questions below. There are no right or wrong answers.

1. In a quiet, relaxed atmosphere, think of the best and happiest time in your life. Picture it in your mind's eye, seeing people, colors, and objects. In writing, quickly record these images as accurately as possible. You should have three in total.

2. How would you explain happiness to someone?

3. Is happiness a matter of choice? Explain.

4. Can happiness be changed by outside forces?

5. Who can change it?

6. If the answer to questions 4 was "yes," who decides who can bring about happiness?

7. Can the government by any law guarantee happiness?

8. What happens if you and the government disagree about what happiness is?